Ukraine's Ports Operating Normally Despite Political Tension With Russia

Tensions remain between Russia and Ukraine, but all Ukrainian ports are reported to be working normally

However, due to increased security measures at Ukrainian ports and terminals, it is taking longer than normal for port security passes to be issued. Therefore, surveyors' attendances should be arranged at least 2-3 days in advance.

Given the military presence along Ukrainian borders and the uncertainties surrounding the current political situation, it is recommended that vessels planning to call at Ukraine contact their local agents or P&I correspondent for the latest information.

We will provide further news as and when the situation develops.
